ADAPT & THRIVE: FUTURE PROOF L&D

Empower your L&D team to work at the speed of business

Supporting learning at the pace of business has never been more critical than now. Business leaders expect learning to generate improved performance and organisational agility. At the same time jobs are being reshaped, skill needs are advancing, and the talent market is tight. Organisations need to support people to adapt and learn. These shifts increase demands upon L&D, while opening up new possibilities. Explore how to move from being constrained (busy, overwhelmed, underequipped and stuck) to resourceful (flexible, responsive, focussed, cross-functional and agile).

This is perfect for

Progressive L&D leaders and teams who want to rapidly sense and adapt to change in their organisation and it's environment, working at the speed of business to meet the expectations and needs of their organisation.

The participants will leave with:

An awareness of what is constraining your L&D team and limiting your flexibility and responsiveness

An actionable understanding of the three levers that build adaptable capability in an L&D team – Mindset, Agile Operations and Skillset

An assessment of your current state against these three levers and next steps to move from constrained to resourceful (workshop format only)
