ENGAGE YOUR TEAM TO LEARN AS THEY WORK

Maximise your team's performance with learning through work - It's easier than you think

You've got a lot on your plate as a manager: hitting performance targets with limited resources and budget, keeping your people safe and getting your team to work together well are just the start of the list. You know that all of this is easier if your people have the right skills, can solve problems and flex to respond to issues and unusual events. The good news is that you don't need to wait to send your people off on a training course to improve you're their skills, performance, and outcomes. As a manager you have more influence over the development of your people than anyone else – and it can be easier and less time-consuming than you may think.

This is perfect for

Team leaders who are keen to continuously improve team performance without a big investment of time and money – through straightforward, practical ways you can help your team learn as they work and from their work.

The participants will leave with:

The ability to identify an important goal that is stretching their team's skills

An actionable understanding of how people really improve their skills

Practical approaches and tools that you can use easily to help your team get better at their work

A plan to immediately put at least one of these approaches in place with your team
